OATH ADMINISTERED — City Councilmen given the oath of office by Common Pleas Judge William Ammer (right) were, from the left: Tom Wells, Dixie Watters, Harold Hoffman, John Jenkins, David Crawford, Ben Gordon, Council President Joe Bell. Councilman David Goldschmidt was not present for the ceremony.

Council Enacts Criminal Code

In its first of 1974 Circleville City Council enacted a new criminal offenses code to conform with the code of general offenses of the state of Ohio.

The city's attorney William Stevens explained the need for the new criminal code. He pointed out that if violators were arrested, charged and convicted under the state laws, the city receives 45 per cent of the fine. However, if the offenders can be charged under city criminal codes, the city would receive all of the fine.

He advised council members it would be wise to enact the legislation as an emergency measure at last night's meeting, explaining that revisions and amendments could be added as needed.

A communication from Columbia Gas of Ohio was read by council clerk Robert Shadley. The letter informed council members that pursuant to the fuel adjustment clause in the ordinance regulating the cost of gas to customers in the city, an increase of two and 16 one hundredths cents per cubic foot will begin Jan. 31. This will amount to about 32 cents a month for the average customer.

Last night's meeting was preceded by the administering of the oath of office to members by Pickaway

Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Members sworn into office were: Dixie Watters, fourth ward; Harold Hoffman, third ward; John Jenkins, second ward; Tom Wells, David Crawford and Ben Gordon, members at large; Joe Bell, president. First ward councilman David Goldschmidt is a professor in the Ohio State University College of Optometry and had classes to teach yesterday, missing the swearing-in ceremony.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

One of the shortest meetings by council, it lasted only one-half hour. The 80-plus page criminal offenses ordinance was read by title only.

Clerk Robert Shadley pointed out last night that council had failed to present an ordinance naming the clerk for the two-year-period that began last night. He was assured such an ordinance would be prepared for the next meeting and was asked to continue serving.

Councilman Hoffman was late for last night's meeting. The administering of the oath of office was delayed and a police cruiser dispatched to the councilman's home to remind him of the meeting.

Skylab Crew Goes After Full Mission

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 3 flight has had mechanical and human errors, but its commander says "by golly we're going to make it" the full 84 days.

Commander Gerald P. Carr also said the error-prone early days of the mission are behind because of a new understanding between the ground and the crew on the work schedule.

He spoke during a news conference from orbit Wednesday on the 48th day of the intended 12-week space voyage.

Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson answered newsmen's questions relayed by mission control. They said their space experience has brought changes of "almost a spiritual nature" in their views of themselves, of other humans and of the possibility of life existing elsewhere in the universe.

Asked if a faltering gyroscope and excessive control gas use gave him concern that the mission might be cut short, Carr replied that both systems seemed now to be well managed despite the problems.

"I feel comfortable that we're being careful with them," he said. "We're not wasting gas, and I think by golly we're going to make it."

"We ended up falling all over ourselves about the first 10 to 15 days, so we were extremely inefficient and getting way, way behind schedule," he said. "I think the folks on the ground finally got the message and took some of the pressure off. We immediately showed an improvement in efficiency, and we're working well up here now."

Discussing an early incident in which he tried unsuccessfully to conceal from mission control that he had vomited, Pogue said he regretted causing embarrassment to his crewmates.

Carr said of the attempted cover-up of the vomiting: "We felt we didn't want to bother the ground with it. We decided the next morning it was a bum decision. But it was too late to take it back."

Weather

Cloudy, cold with chances of occasional light, freezing drizzle. High, upper 30s. Mostly cloudy tonight with a chance of light snow. Low near 20. Partly cloudy Friday, high, low 30s. Probability of precipitation, 40 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 25; low, 24.

Gasoline Sales Limit Of 10 Gallons Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy chief William E. Simon said today that oil companies and independent distributors have agreed to set a limit of 10 gallons of gasoline per customer at service stations.

Simon also predicted that gasoline prices will increase over the next month or two, to levels about 8 to 11 cents higher than in early December.

Simon told a news conference his price estimates, increased from his estimate of about seven cents last week, took account of a new set of gasoline price hikes to be authorized Feb. 1.

Simon said the new increases would come as a variable formula designed to give service station owners partial compensation for the reduced amounts of gasoline they can sell, as gasoline production is cut under federal regulations.

Simon has already ordered creation of a standby gasoline rationing program but has deferred until later a decision whether to put it into effect.

He has also asked the public to limit its gasoline purchases voluntarily to 10 gallons per week.

Today's announcement of agreement with the distributors marks a further tightening of gasoline controls, although still on a voluntary basis.

Simon said major oil companies and independent distributors and retailers have agreed to encourage a policy limiting service station gasoline sales to 10 gallons per customer.

He said the companies could enforce this as company policy at the service stations it owns directly but could only urge it upon franchised service stations.

The sales limit, if enforced, would still leave a motorist free to drive on and purchase another 10 gallons at the next service station, but as gasoline supplies dwindle, waiting lines may discourage this tactic.

Simon reported that gasoline consumption was running some 7.8 per cent below normal demand forecasts over the four weeks ending Dec. 21. This was an improvement in fuel saving from the 5.7 per cent reported the week earlier, but still far short of the 20 per cent gasoline reduction now believed necessary, he said.

Simon said several factors would combine to push average gasoline

Ice Storms Sweep U.S. From Texas To New Jersey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ice storms crippled areas from central Texas to New Jersey today. Snow fell north of the ice storms and rain and drizzle spread to the south.

At least seven persons died in traffic accidents attributed to icy conditions in Tennessee. Ice up to an inch coated western sections of the state.

The Memphis Fire Department was swamped with calls for ambulance service Wednesday from people who suffered falls on the ice. Some power lines were down and schools were closed. Memphis International Airport was closed part of the day.

One Memphis woman wore her golf shoes to work to walk on ice but forgot to take them off before she slipped over the marble floors of her office. She suffered a broken wrist and head injuries.

Trash collectors in St. Louis balked at working in icy alleys.

The ice glazed parts of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Kentucky and on into the Virginias and Pennsylvania.

A 15-minute trip in Little Rock, Ark., turned into a two-hour grind, and highways throughout the ice band area were tied up with stalled traffic.

South of the band of ice, rain and drizzle swept the Gulf and Atlantic coasts and northern Florida.

Freezing temperatures dipped as far south as central Texas as the cold wave that gripped the midcontinent held on for the fourth day in much of the region.

Snow fell from the southern Rockies in New Mexico to southern Kansas and in the upper Plains and along the lee shores of the Great Lakes. Heavy-snow warnings were issued for northern New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle and northwestern Oklahoma.

More than a foot of snow piled into some New Mexico communities Wednesday. Deep snow through northern counties prompted many schools and business places to close and snarled traffic in urban areas.

Travel advisories were posted for snow and sleet for much of the central Atlantic coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 28 at Rawlins, Wyo., to 75 at Key West and West Palm Beach, Fla.

Nixon Audit Could Widen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says it will conduct a new audit of President Nixon's recent income tax returns to determine whether he owes more taxes.

IRS sources said the audit would include the President's tax returns for 1970, when he paid $793 in taxes and 1971, when he paid $878, but could extend to other years as well.

The audit of the President's 1970 and 1971 returns will be the second by the IRS, a spokesman said, but he declined to comment on whether any new information had become available to cause the new probe. He said nothing was found amiss in the earlier audit.

He did say there is nothing to prevent the IRS from checking into presidential deductions it previously had cleared.

There has been considerable controversy over deductions from the President's tax returns for 1970, 1971 and 1972 for the value of his vice presidential papers which he donated to the National Archives in 1969. The papers were valued by the President at about $576,000.

The key question concerns whether the donations were lawfully made in advance of a mid-1969 cut-off, voted by Congress to disallow tax advantages for donations for such items.

around the government's price regulations.

Three major oil companies — Amoco, Sun Oil and Standard Oil of Ohio — increased prices Wednesday. The wholesale gasoline increases of 5.8 cents a gallon for Amoco, two cents for Sun Oil and a cent for Standard follow similar increases announced Monday by Standard Oil of California, Union Oil Co. and Shell Oil Co.

Tex Ritter Dies; Singing, Film Star

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tex Ritter, a towering figure in Country and Western music, is dead of a heart attack at 67.

Ritter, who ranked with such greats as Roy Acuff, Ernest Tubb and the late Hank Williams, collapsed while visiting a member of his band at the Nashville jail Wednesday night.

He was rushed to Baptist Hospital, where his doctor said he died of a "massive, sudden heart attack."

Ritter had gone to the jail to visit Jack Watkins, who was locked up Tuesday night on a charge of failure to pay alimony.

The biggest hits for the softspoken Ritter were the movie theme "High Noon," "Wayward Wind," "You Are My Sunshine," "Boll Weevil" and "Hillbilly Heaven."

Among Ritter's 78 film credits were starring roles in such movies as "Sing, Cowboy, Sing," "Marshal of Gunsmoke," "The Old Chisholm Trail" and "Song of the Gringo," his first film.

He also had television roles in Westerns such as "The Rebel" and "Zane Grey Theater."

Although Ritter did not appear as an actor in the film "High Noon," a Western suspense thriller starring Gary Cooper, he sang the haunting ballad that played throughout the movie. Cooper won the 1952 Oscar as best actor for his role in the production.

Ritter's interest in politics led him into the Republican primary for the U.S. Senate in Tennessee in 1970. He was defeated by Rep. William E. Brock III, who went on to unseat Democrat Albert Gore.

Ritter's singing career began 40 years ago when he was paid $100 to record four songs, including the country standard "Rye Whiskey."

In 1964, he was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame, only the second living person to be so honored.

Born Maurice Woodward Ritter at Murvaul, Tex., a community of only 123, Ritter never gave up his love for cowboy clothes. His standard attire was a Western outfit and a 10-gallon cowboy hat.

He made his debut as a singing cowboy in Western films in 1936, following the trend set by Gene Autry.

During the 1940s, he was recognized as one of the top 10 Western box office stars.

In 1938, while acting, he met and married Dorothy Fay. They later acted together in five movies, and they had two sons.

Only three weeks ago today, Ritter presented one of two copies of a narrative album to President Nixon for his help in promoting country music.

The other copy of the album — which is composed of speeches by Nixon and narration by Ritter — is in the Country Music Hall of Fame.

On learning of Ritter's death, Autry portrayed him as "a fine man, a fine artist and a great American.... He was a real leader."

In addition to his widow, Dorothy, Ritter is survived by his two sons, Thomas and Johnathan.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Road Conditions Close LE Schools

The ice storm hit the southeast part of the county first and Logan Elm School District canceled all classes.

In Circleville Schools, Wayne Twp. kindergarten students were sent home with the regular students that was the only change in scheduling.

In both Westfall and Teays Valley Districts, elementary and high school students were delivered to classes before the brunt of the storm hit and regularly scheduled classes were held. However, the junior high classes were canceled in both schools. City streets began getting icy shortly before 9 a.m. In 18 minutes city police had three fender benders but no one was injured.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's department had received reports of 16 accidents by 11:30 a.m., three involving injuries to occupants.

The local highway patrol station had received "too many calls to count," by 11:30, and found that many proved only to be vehicles in ditches.

The weatherman called for the freezing rain to change to light snow tonight with a low near 20 degrees.

Good Samaritan Measure Passed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House passed by a vote of 91-0 today legislation providing financial awards for persons who try to prevent crimes.

There were no arguments against the measure by Rep. Casey Jones, D-45 Toledo.

A short time later, both houses adjourned until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The measure, which has 57 sponsors out of the 99-member House delegation, was set for a floor vote Wednesday by the House Rules Committee.

The House was to convene at 11 a.m., the Senate at 10.

In other action during the opening-day of the 1973 session, the Senate got a new senator, Republican Charles P. Bolton of Mentor, although there was some question as to whether he had resided in the state for a year as the constitution requires.

Republicans approved Bolton, 31, for the seat vacated by the ailing Robert E. Stockdale, R-31 Kent, whose resignation was effective Dec. 31.

The good samaritan bill, as written, would allow the Sundry Claims board to compensate citizens up to $10,000 if injured or killed while attempting to prevent a crime or assisting a police officer.

Leaders of both parties agreed in Rules Committee to amend it on the floor to make the proposed Court of Claims rather than the Sundry Claims Board the paying agent.

A bill which has already passed the House and is now in the Senate abolishes the claims board and replaces it with the court.

The main sponsor of the bill is Rep. Casey C. Jones, D-45 Toledo.

The House has scheduled votes on two other bills during the day. One would require the true ownership of an establishment with a liquor permit be made public under threat of penalty and the other would allow a probate court to approve any choice of custody made by 14-to-16 year olds.

Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese made a mild protest about Bolton's appointment but Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, presiding at the session, would not recognize his complaint.

Republicans only voted on the selection. When a Democrat member resigns, only Democrats vote on his successor.

Although Bolton had worked as a stockbroker in New York City, he said he had maintained his voting residence in Mentor. Both his late father and mother served in the U.S. Congress. Three other ancestors served in the Ohio Senate.

Thirty-five bills were introduced into the House and five in the Senate Wednesday. All but two House bills had been pre-filed earlier.

The new House bills would eliminate the need of a separate election for a U.S. Senator to serve for 19 days later this year and prohibit hunting or discharging of firearms within a half-mile of a school building.

Another bill to eliminate the short-term election has already been submitted to the Senate.

Markets Rockets Kill 8 In Red Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's decision to lower the amount of cash investors must put up to buy stocks on credit sent stock market prices higher today.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had spurted more than 20 points in the first halfhour, subsided later and was ahead only 10.92 to 866.24 at noon. Advances swamped declines by more than 13 to 1 in spirited trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The NYSE's broadbased composite index was up .75 to 52.73.

On the American Stock Exchange, gainers overpowered losers 6 to 1, and the marketvalue index rose 1.85 to 92.87.

Brokers said the impetus for the rally came from the Fed's decision to lower the minimum permissible down payment for credit purchases of stocks from 65 to 50 per cent of the total stock price.

Stock exchanges and brokerage houses remain free, however, to impose stricter limits on the down payment if they wish.

Among the big gainers on the NYSE was Kennecott Copper, the volume leader, which rose 2 1/2 to 48 1/4. Analysts said the company, which has big coal holdings, was benefiting from the recent interest in domestic energy sources.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Eight persons were killed and 37 wounded as Khmer Rouge rockets hit Phnom Penh late Wednesday night and again this afternoon, officials said.

Seven rockets landed in the Cambodian capital at 3 p.m. One hit near a crowded taxi stand a block from the central market. The others exploded in a residential area and near the Cambodian Army Headquarters.

The military command said six 122mm rockets were fired into the city Wednesday night but only one caused casualties. It exploded under a house in a slum section, killing one person and wounding seven.

Phnom Penh now has been the target of six rocket attacks since Dec. 23. The missiles are fired from the other side of the Mekong River northeast of the city, and Cambodian planes and artillery have been attacking the area.

Field reports Wednesday said government ground forces had cleared a three-mile strip of villages on the east bank of the Mekong northeast of Phnom Penh. But this did not stop the rocket attacks.

Another government force re-captured the town of Talat, 41 miles west of the capital on Highway 4, the military command reported. But the road, which is Phnom Penh's supply route from the coast, was still blocked at Trapang Kraloeung, 39 miles from Phnom Penh, and sharp fighting was reported there late Wednesday night, with five government soldiers killed and 15 wounded.

The Khmer Rouge insurgents have kept the highway closed since Nov. 12.

North Vietnam said today that the general military situation in South Vietnam has not changed much since the ceasefire agreement last January and "the area administered by the Provisional Revolutionary Government has been firmly preserved."

"Scattered conflicts" still take place in Quang Tri and Thua Thien provinces, the northernmost areas of South Vietnam, and "fighting is more violent" in some central areas and in the Mekong Delta, said Quan Doi Nhan Dan, Hanoi's army newspaper.

It said some South Vietnamese government troops, taking advantage of monsoon rains, recently have "encroached upon some liberated areas" in Quang Nam, Quang Ngai and Binh Dinh provinces in the central lowlands, "but they are facing increasing resistance from the local people."

"The war is raging, but at a markedly lower level compared with the period when U.S. troops still remained in South Vietnam."

President Signs Social Security Bill

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — Despite some misgivings President Nixon is ready to sign into law an 11 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

Although Nixon was known to feel that the timing of the hikes would have an adverse effect on the federal budget, aides indicated he would sign the measure today and issue a statement citing some of his objections. Nixon had to act on the bill by midnight or it would die by pocket veto.

The bill would increase the average monthly payment for a retired individual from $161 to $181 and for a couple from $276 to $310.

The President signed a number of major bills Wednesday including a $73.7 billion defense appropriations act. This was $2.9 billion less than the administration had requested. The bulk of the reduction — $2.1 billion — was in procurement funds appropriated at $18.4 billion.

Nixon also signed a bill increasing by $575 million the total amount of loans and guarantees that the Small Business Administration can make before June 30. The same measure retroactively re-opens the Agriculture Department's easement loan program for rural residences damaged in disasters that occurred between Dec. 26, 1972 and April 20, 1973.

Finally, Nixon signed legislation to encourage state adoption of maximum state speed limits of 55 miles per hour and to reorganize seven bankrupt Northeastern railroads with the help of $500 million in federal subsidies and $1.5 billion in loan guarantees.

The Social Security legislation also raises the wage base — the amount of annual earnings subject to tax — from $10,800 of 1973 to $13,200 in 1974. Under previous law, it was scheduled to be $12,600 in 1974.

The maximum tax paid each by the worker and employer in 1973, $631.80, will be $772.20 in 1974.

The 5.85 per cent rate paid by the worker and employer in 1973 will not be changed in 1974.

The first benefit boost will be 7 per cent, set for the March check due April 3, with the other 4 per cent coming in the June check payable July 3. Some 30 million Americans now receive Social Security payments.

The Social Security Administration said it might not be able to pay the 7 per cent hike in the March check since it requires about four months to switch its computers.

In that event, the increase probably would first be reflected in the April check due May 3, with a retroactive payment for March.

The minimum payment for an individual will be raised from $84.50 to $93.80. The maximum will go up from $274 to $304 for an individual, from $411 to $456 for a couple.

Deputy Dountz Investigates Two Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz cited David L. Fletcher, 19, 118 W. High St., for reckless operation when he was involved in a single-car accident 3:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Fletcher apparently lost control of the auto while rounding a curve on State Route 752 going into a ditch, striking a fence.

No injuries were reported. Linda M. Eitel, 23, Route 3, received minor injuries 8:57 a.m. Thursday, when she lost control of her car on Commercial Point Road.

The auto went off the right side of the road rolling over into a field. Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz attributed the icy road conditions as the cause of the accident.

GTE Reports Cable Missing

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover investigated two reports of grand theft occurring Dec. 31.

Kenneth Crabtree, construction supervisor for General Telephone Company, told authorities thieves took 12 pair of 490 foot plastic covered cable estimated to be worth $200, from a construction site on County Road 508.

The supervisor reported 300 pair of 50 foot plastic covered cable was missing from a site on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road.

Estimated value of the cable was $150.

Crabtree stated that this is the first incident of this kind since 1972.

Gasoline Taxes Are Distributed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Counties and townships in Ohio received $4.7 million in gasoline taxes last month, state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said money was not available in December for distribution to the state's 964 cities and villages, but will go out in January.

Each township got $1,200, Ferguson said, and counties received $35,000 each.

Gasoline tax receipts can be used for street and road work.

40 New Cases Filed During December

Judge William Ammer has released his monthly report for Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for December. A total of 40 new cases were filed during the last month of 1973. Ten of these were personal injury; eight criminal cases; 17 domestic relations and five others.

Sixty-one cases were finished during December. Two of the finished cases were by jury trial, the two charges of first degree murder filed against Denver Eugene Meade; seven by court trial; three by pre-trial; 21 by dismissal without prejudice, one by dismissal with prejudice; 25 by default and one by transfer to another court.

These 61 finished cases by category were five personal injury; 13 criminal; 39 domestic relations and four others.

A total of 223 cases were still pending at the end of the month. Of these the majority, 106, were domestic relations cases; 61 were personal injury; two workman's compensation; 35 criminal and 19 others.

Legislation On Farmland Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two state senators offered legislation today to implement a new constitutional amendment that authorized taxation of Ohio farm lands at a special agricultural rate.

Sens. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, and William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, said the measure guards against use of farm land tax advantages by real estate speculators.

In a joint statement, the senators said, "it is extremely important that bona fide farmers receive relief from unreasonable real estate valuation procedures and that great care be taken to protect county tax duplicates from erosion due to speculation in farm property."

The bill defines farm land that would qualify for the special rate as "a parcel, tract, or lot of land five acres or more that was exclusively devoted during the entire preceding tax year to bona fide agricultural use."

Such use would include general crop farming, dairying, animal and poultry husbandry, market and vegetable gardening, floriculture, nurseries, fruit, nut orchards, vineyards, and forestry, the senators explained.

Ohio voters last Nov. 6 approved the amendment which permits the taxation of farm lands on the basis of its use rather than market value as had been required by the constitution.

Its general intent was to provide tax relief for farmers whose land has been inflated in value by the development of adjacent suburban areas.

Arab World Celebrates 4-Day Feast

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The cry of "Liberate Jerusalem" resounded through the Arab world today as it began a fourday holiday for Id al Adha, the biggest Moslem feast of the year.

Egyptians relaxed in the wake of the October war with Israel, but their troops on the increasingly tense Suez front remained on full alert. Members of parliament were visiting them with gifts.

Id al Adha means Feast of Sacrifice and commemorates the Islamic version of the Biblical story of Abraham and Isaac: Allah ordered the Prophet Ibrahim to sacrifice his son Ismail as a test of obedience; Ibrahim took the boy to Mt. Arafat, near Mecca, but as he was about to kill him, Allah substituted a lamb.

The feast comes at the end of the Hajj, the annual pilgrimage to Mecca, in Saudi Arabia, which a million Saudis and 750,000 Moslems from 62 other countries are making this year. King Faisal led them to the granite hill today for the slaughter of hundreds of thousands of lambs and prayers for the recovery of the Arab sector of Jerusalem and its Moslem shrines, lost to Israel in the 1967 war.

Arab radio stations from Morocco to the Persian Gulf were linked up with the Saudi radio to broadcast reports of the 25-mile trek from Mecca and the ritual at Arafat. Cairo Radio told the 36,000 Egyptians making the Hajj to pray "for the completion of victory over the Jews — Allah's enemies."

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's decision to lower the amount of cash investors must put up to buy stocks on credit sent stock market prices higher today.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had spurted more than 20 points in the first halfhour, subsided later and was ahead only 10.92 to 866.24 at noon. Advances swamped declines by more than 13 to 1 in spirited trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The NYSE's broadbased composite index was up .75 to 52.73.

On the American Stock Exchange, gainers overpowered losers 6 to 1, and the marketvalue index rose 1.85 to 92.87.

Brokers said the impetus for the rally came from the Fed's decision to lower the minimum permissible down payment for credit purchases of stocks from 65 to 50 per cent of the total stock price.

Stock exchanges and brokerage houses remain free, however, to impose stricter limits on the down payment if they wish.

Among the big gainers on the NYSE was Kennecott Copper, the volume leader, which rose 2 1/2 to 48 1/4. Analysts said the company, which has big coal holdings, was benefiting from the recent interest in domestic energy sources.

Judge William Ammer has released his monthly report for Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for December. A total of 40 new cases were filed during the last month of 1973. Ten of these were personal injury; eight criminal cases; 17 domestic relations and five others.

Sixty-one cases were finished during December. Two of the finished cases were by jury trial, the two charges of first degree murder filed against Denver Eugene Meade; seven by court trial; three by pre-trial; 21 by dismissal without prejudice, one by dismissal with prejudice; 25 by default and one by transfer to another court.

These 61 finished cases by category were five personal injury; 13 criminal; 39 domestic relations and four others.

A total of 223 cases were still pending at the end of the month. Of these the majority, 106, were domestic relations cases; 61 were personal injury; two workman's compensation; 35 criminal and 19 others.

Legislation On Farmland Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two state senators offered legislation today to implement a new constitutional amendment that authorized taxation of Ohio farm lands at a special agricultural rate.

Sens. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, and William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, said the measure guards against use of farm land tax advantages by real estate speculators.

In a joint statement, the senators said, "it is extremely important that bona fide farmers receive relief from unreasonable real estate valuation procedures and that great care be taken to protect county tax duplicates from erosion due to speculation in farm property."

The bill defines farm land that would qualify for the special rate as "a parcel, tract, or lot of land five acres or more that was exclusively devoted during the entire preceding tax year to bona fide agricultural use."

Such use would include general crop farming, dairying, animal and poultry husbandry, market and vegetable gardening, floriculture, nurseries, fruit, nut orchards, vineyards, and forestry, the senators explained.

Ohio voters last Nov. 6 approved the amendment which permits the taxation of farm lands on the basis of its use rather than market value as had been required by the constitution.

Its general intent was to provide tax relief for farmers whose land has been inflated in value by the development of adjacent suburban areas.

Arab World Celebrates 4-Day Feast

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The cry of "Liberate Jerusalem" resounded through the Arab world today as it began a fourday holiday for Id al Adha, the biggest Moslem feast of the year.

Egyptians relaxed in the wake of the October war with Israel, but their troops on the increasingly tense Suez front remained on full alert. Members of parliament were visiting them with gifts.

Id al Adha means Feast of Sacrifice and commemorates the Islamic version of the Biblical story of Abraham and Isaac: Allah ordered the Prophet Ibrahim to sacrifice his son Ismail as a test of obedience; Ibrahim took the boy to Mt. Arafat, near Mecca, but as he was about to kill him, Allah substituted a lamb.

The feast comes at the end of the Hajj, the annual pilgrimage to Mecca, in Saudi Arabia, which a million Saudis and 750,000 Moslems from 62 other countries are making this year. King Faisal led them to the granite hill today for the slaughter of hundreds of thousands of lambs and prayers for the recovery of the Arab sector of Jerusalem and its Moslem shrines, lost to Israel in the 1967 war.

Arab radio stations from Morocco to the Persian Gulf were linked up with the Saudi radio to broadcast reports of the 25-mile trek from Mecca and the ritual at Arafat. Cairo Radio told the 36,000 Egyptians making the Hajj to pray "for the completion of victory over the Jews — Allah's enemies."

Gasoline Price Variance Due To Many Factors

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
At Shepherd's Texaco in downtown Indianapolis, regular gasoline is selling at 45.9 cents a gallon. A few miles away, in the city's northeast quarter, the pump price at Bob's Texaco is 48.4 cents for regular. The situation is not unusual. Despite price controls, there are wide variations in gasoline prices. Transportation costs account for some regional differences. But even at the local level, drivers note differences of several cents for the same brand, same grade.

How come? The answer, basically, is that it is built into the system. Service station pump prices have been under a federal ceiling since President Nixon ordered the Phase 3 price freeze last June 13.

Under present rules, dealers may charge customers the wholesale cost of gasoline plus a profit markup no greater than they were making last May 15. The average station operator markup, then and now, is about seven cents a gallon. But differences from one station to another in the same area can be as much as 10 cents a gallon.

When supplies were plentiful last year, stations located in high traffic, high competition areas generally had a lower per gallon markup than stations in less competitive areas. They counted on volume to make their business profitable, especially when price wars occurred.

Regional differences aside, buying gasoline is not what it used to be. Once motorists could shop for gasoline like a housewife bargain hunting among supermarkets. Now it's more like buying at specialty stores: Prices are higher and discounts a rarity.

Platt's Oilgram, which figures the average U.S. retail cost for regular gasoline each month, says the average price for nonpremium gasoline jumped from 37.02 cents to 42.26 cents a gallon between Jan. 1 and Dec. 1, 1973.

The retail price is made up of the dealer's wholesale cost, taxes and the dealer's markup for overhead and profit. The current average U.S. wholesale cost for regular gasoline is about 22 1/2 cents per gallon.

Further hikes in gasoline station profits now appear likely. Many station owners have complained that their markup no longer is sufficient because of the reduced volume of gasoline they now have available to sell. They are looking for a markup higher than the current seven cents a gallon national average.

Refiners, middlemen and retailers are allowed to pass along any increase in their costs once each month. Charles Owen of the Federal Energy Office said last week that gasoline prices might rise 10 cents a gallon at some service stations in January and February to cover sharp increases in the price of domestic and foreign crude oil, higher service station rent and higher electricity bills.

The source of crude oil refined by different gasoline companies contributes to the varying retail gasoline prices.

Domestic crude oil under price ceilings has been allowed to increase from about $3.40 to $5.20 a barrel this year, about a 50 per cent hike. Some foreign crudes have more than tripled in price to around $10 a barrel.

American oil companies dependent largely or entirely on imported crude, could pass along to gasoline consumers a 6-to 10-cent a gallon increase in January. This is because many petroleum exporting countries doubled on Jan. 1 the taxes and royalties they collect on petroleum.

The end of this spiral is not yet in sight, but there is one factor that may ultimately work to the benefit of the consumer.

Oil producers say the higher prices for crude oil already have brought a surge in drilling and production and some of the major oil companies are making big boosts in their 1974 exploration budgets.

Eventually this could mean the production of enough new oil to satisfy demand, ending the spiral and stabilizing the price of gasoline again.

Michigan Bar Wedding Site

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Frank Wolf and Judy Schweitzer were married in a local bar New Year's Day because, as the bride put it, "it's been like a home to us."

After the ceremony, conducted by a minister of the Universal Life Church, a crowd of 100 persons toasted the newlyweds. The new Mrs. Wolf, 29, wore a floor-length emerald green dress. The groom, 59, wore black tails.

A rock band beat out a wedding march.

Aptitude Scores Drop

There are several ways of interpreting lower average scores on Scholastic Aptitude Tests which began about 10 years ago and continue. One is that the mix of students taking the tests in preparation for college has changed: more highly motivated and well trained students electing not to go on to college and more in lower academic standings electing to go.

Another explanation is the one which worries the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., the organization which monitors college board exams, as well as some educators. It is that verbal and mathematical skills of the student population have been dropping in recent years.

On a scale ranging from 200 to 800, the average verbal scores have dropped about 30 points in the last 10 years and math scores have declined 20 points, on the average. That may not seem much of a drop, but it has produced something of a quandary for the testing service.

"There seems no longer to be a general consensus about what it means to be 'well educated'," commented an official of the testing program. "We're trying to find a way to do a study."

It is difficult to envision any meaningful education goal which does not include a high place for two of the literate world's most useful tools: verbal and mathematical communications.

Detroit Losing Control

Somewhere along the line American automobile industry will find itself short-circuited by Washington, if the present expansion of control over the industry by politicians continues. With increasing frequency the executive branch and now Congress are promulgating fundamental changes in both design and functional capabilities of automobiles.

It began slowly, as such intrusion into the private affairs of individuals and businesses usually does, but is accelerating. Many of the mandates have an altruistic goal, such as the exhaust emission controls.

But in pursuing those goals relentlessly without thought of the essential role the auto plays in American society and without consideration of other factors—such as increased gasoline consumption caused by the control systems—faceless bureaucrats threaten not only an industry but the jobs of hundreds of thousands of Americans whose livelihoods directly and indirectly are dependent upon private vehicles.

In addition to emission controls there are now federal policies on bumpers, seat belts, protective devices such as air bags, ignition locks which prevent a car from starting unless seat belts are in place and audio alarms of various kinds. The Senate has reached the ultimate—so far—by ordering Detroit to eke out a minimum of 20 miles per gallon on all autos by the end of the decade, with other unspecified standards to be met by 1978.

It would be nice if technology could respond instantly to the whims of someone who has his eyes on goals and not on methods of attaining them. But it does not work that way, not at least without a cost which could spread far beyond Detroit.

Churchgoers Surmount Gas Crisis

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

They come by foot, on bicycles and in car pools.

They are the nation's faithful, and church leaders say they are flocking to worship services despite Gasless Sundays.

At the onset of the energy crisis, some religious leaders feared parishioners would not use up costly fuel to go to church.

But an Associated Press sampling of churches in 17 states showed attendance had not been adversely affected in most areas surveyed. Eight areas reported increased attendance, eight were not affected and only one had a drop.

crisis — mainly because the houses of worship are often heavy users of heating oil and electricity.

Many religious leaders contacted said thermostats had been lowered, some meetings switched from evening to daytime, lighting displays turned off and church-related travel by car or bus curtailed.

Methods of getting to church also are changing.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints urged the world's Mormons to walk to church, while other churches have urged increased use of mass transit and even bicycles.

The energy crisis is increasingly a topic of sermons, church periodicals and even bumper-sticker campaigns.

Some see it as an opportunity to stress moral power.

"These are times when we must stress spiritual values and reshape our standard of living to show it is not made up of just material affluence," said the Rev. Robert J. Marshall of New York City, president of the Lutheran Church in America.

The National Council of Churches scheduled an Energy Crisis Conference in the nation's capital on Jan. 25-27 and issued a statement saying: "Our long-range concern must be for universal distributive justice, whereby the world's resources and energy are available as fairly as possible to all humanity."

Upholds Fee Arrangement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday upheld a trial court's right to determine attorney fees and costs in a taxpayer's suit and upheld a contempt fine of $450 against a Dayton attorney.

The court reversed a Cuyahoga County Court of Appeals decision that would have sent the matter of attorney fees back to Cuyahoga Common Pleas Court for action.

The lower court had allowed the costs of a taxpayer's suit brought by Glenn E. Billington but disallowed attorney fees. Billington's original action stopped the city of Cleveland from printing and mailing copies of a proposed charter amendment at public expense.

The high court said "public benefit" need not be a monetary matter in such cases but said the fees granted or denied was for the trial court to decide.

The fine, plus court costs, was levied by a Montgomery County court against Daniel O. Weiner, an attorney who failed to show at a scheduled trial for a client on a drunken driving charge.

Weiner said he had withdrawn from the case at his client's insistence and had informed the prosecution. The court said his withdrawal was not communicated to the court until a time "when its disruptive effect was unavoidable."

The age of the earth is estimated at about 6,500 million years.

I know that antibiotics are worthless for an ordinary cold caused by a virus. Yet our doctor prescribes antibiotics every time we have a severe cold.

Our family are not big pill-takers and I wonder if the antibiotics can eventually do us harm.

Mrs. I.A., Maine

Dear Mrs. A.:

Yours is a sensible inquiry. The problem you brought up does need clarification.

It is true that the common cold is caused by some type of virus. It is also true that antibiotics are not usually effective against viruses.

Why then are antibiotics used? It is well established that people who have a severe cold, gripe or flu are devitalized and are better candidates for added bacterial infections. Complications like pneumonia, infections of the sinuses, and infections of the ears frequently accompany the ordinary common cold.

It is to prevent these complications or to treat them should they arise that doctors frequently prescribe antibiotics.

The fact that you and your family are not pill-takers does not reduce their need. You can be sure that no doctor promiscuously prescribes antibiotics. He recognizes that there are some allergic reactions to the antibiotics, and that some of them may produce annoying side effects.

Can a cancer of the breast be caused by an injury?

Mrs. J.B., Wis.

Dear Mrs. B.:

I doubt that injury is commonly accepted as the cause of breast cancer. Sometimes injury may cause the rupture of a blood vessel, and a collection of blood (hematoma) may give the appearance of a tumor.

One of the reasons why some women attribute a breast cancer to an injury is that it was the injury that made them inspect their breast more frequently.

An undiscovered lump is thus brought to light.

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a multibillion-dollar resolution: that the nation's planners, government and private, be compelled to eliminate administrative procrastination and act realistically.

Because they have not, the nation has bounced into one economic ditch after another, almost like a car whose driver decided he wouldn't bother turning the wheel at the curve.

To an overwhelming extent, the vast problems that face the nation today could have been lessened if action were taken in time. They were as predictable as tomorrow's sun.

The oil shortage, for example, was foreseen two decades ago. Plans could have been implemented to avert the current crisis condition, but that apparently is not the way of government or private enterprise. Neither acted.

The oil companies could have taken unilateral action, of course, but how were they to explain to their stockholders that they were spending money for a theoretical future situation? Not when a company's job is to earn money.

Instead of developing their domestic supplies, some oil companies long ago decided that it would be far more profitable to import inexpensive foreign crude. It looked better on their profit-and-loss statement.

The federal government could have developed incentives or imposed its demands on these companies, but it didn't. There was no political gain in so doing, and most likely a lot of trouble.

The cooperation of the federal government and private enterprise that everyone now agrees is essential to overcome the enormous problems of transportation and environment, to name two, was almost totally lacking.

And, because the goals weren't defined, and the techniques and structures for achieving them weren't developed, the nation bounces from one crisis into another.

And so, while problems that should have been resolved yesterday are being dealt with belatedly in a crisis atmosphere, today's problems are being postponed until tomorrow.

Energy Crisis Aiding Strip Miners?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The energy crisis may benefit Ohio's strip mine operators in terms of what they must spend to reclaim mined out lands, the prime sponsor of Ohio's new strip mine law says.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, said the fuel shortage already is driving the price of coal up. He said it will go higher.

As this happens, he said, the operators will be spending a smaller percentage of their operating costs on reclamation.

Speck said he is not convinced there is any need for action to relax reclamation requirements. Some operators have complained they are unable to obtain middle distillate fuels to run their reclamation equipment.

They say the state should give them more time to restore the lands.

Speck said he understands some operators were having trouble getting fuel earlier. Now, he said he believes federal allocations and help from the state have taken care of the problem.

"At least, I don't know of anyone who can't get the fuel he needs," he said. If it can be proven otherwise, "I'd certainly listen," he added.

The New Concord lawmaker noted that the federal government has given the energy industries, including coal, top priority in its allocation program. "They don't only get 100 per cent of what they've been getting, but they get what they need," he said.

Speck said he also questions claims that allowing coal operators more time to reclaim land would provide any savings in fuel. In most cases, he said, the land is being reclaimed as it is being mined. "To come back later might even require more fuel," he said. "It might take less to reclaim while the machinery is right there."

Speck also noted that the state law already gives the operators a year after a mining operation is complete to begin reclamation, and until the next growing season to plant vegetation. "In many cases, that's about two and one-half years," he said.

"I'm not sure they have a legitimate argument," he said. "I really question whether the real motives are being told."

Speck said he may introduce in the legislature this year a bill that would revise bonding requirements for the strip mine operators.

Some claim they are too high and want to reduce the bonds step by step as the reclamation is completed. "I think they may have a point on that," he said.

A Page Of Opinion

Aptitude Scores Drop

There are several ways of interpreting lower average scores on Scholastic Aptitude Tests which began about 10 years ago and continue. One is that the mix of students taking the tests in preparation for college has changed: more highly motivated and well trained students electing not to go on to college and more in lower academic standings electing to go.

Another explanation is the one which worries the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J., the organization which monitors college board exams, as well as some educators. It is that verbal and mathematical skills of the student population have been dropping in recent years.

On a scale ranging from 200 to 800, the average verbal scores have dropped about 30 points in the last 10 years and math scores have declined 20 points, on the average. That may not seem much of a drop, but it has produced something of a quandary for the testing service.

"There seems no longer to be a general consensus about what it means to be 'well educated'," commented an official of the testing program. "We're trying to find a way to do a study."

It is difficult to envision any meaningful education goal which does not include a high place for two of the literate world's most useful tools: verbal and mathematical communications.

Detroit Losing Control

Somewhere along the line American automobile industry will find itself short-circuited by Washington, if the present expansion of control over the industry by politicians continues. With increasing frequency the executive branch and now Congress are promulgating fundamental changes in both design and functional capabilities of automobiles.

It began slowly, as such intrusion into the private affairs of individuals and businesses usually does, but is accelerating. Many of the mandates have an altruistic goal, such as the exhaust emission controls.

But in pursuing those goals relentlessly without thought of the essential role the auto plays in American society and without consideration of other factors—such as increased gasoline consumption caused by the control systems—faceless bureaucrats threaten not only an industry but the jobs of hundreds of thousands of Americans whose livelihoods directly and indirectly are dependent upon private vehicles.

In addition to emission controls there are now federal policies on bumpers, seat belts, protective devices such as air bags, ignition locks which prevent a car from starting unless seat belts are in place and audio alarms of various kinds. The Senate has reached the ultimate—so far—by ordering Detroit to eke out a minimum of 20 miles per gallon on all autos by the end of the decade, with other unspecified standards to be met by 1978.

It would be nice if technology could respond instantly to the whims of someone who has his eyes on goals and not on methods of attaining them. But it does not work that way, not at least without a cost which could spread far beyond Detroit.

Churchgoers Surmount Gas Crisis

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

They come by foot, on bicycles and in car pools.

They are the nation's faithful, and church leaders say they are flocking to worship services despite Gasless Sundays.

At the onset of the energy crisis, some religious leaders feared parishioners would not use costly fuel to go to church.

But an Associated Press sampling of churches in 17 states showed attendance had not been adversely affected in most areas surveyed. Eight areas reported increased attendance, eight were not affected and only one had a drop.

"Since we had Gasless Sunday, our attendance has been better," said Rev. Carl Wiediger, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church in New Britain, Conn. "For the want of somewhere else to go, people are coming to church."

The Rev. Dr. Robert W. Scott of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Elizabeth, N.J., said Gasless Sundays have "kept more people at home this year because they didn't drive to vacations or second homes" during holidays.

The Rev. E. D. Robertson of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Jackson County, Mo., said figures show a steady rise in attendance since Dec. 2 over the same period last year.

The Rev. Raymond Balcomb, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Portland, Ore., says he's seen no marked change in attendance but is watching closely.

A decrease in attendance was reported in the Maryland suburbs of Washington, D.C.

Our Lady of Lourdes in Bethesda said normal attendance of 4,000 has dropped off at least 500 on the average. But churches and synagogues have not completely escaped the energy crisis — mainly because the houses of worship are often heavy users of heating oil and electricity.

Many religious leaders contacted said thermostats had been lowered, some meetings switched from evening to daytime, lighting displays turned off and church-related travel by car or bus curtailed.

Methods of getting to church also are changing.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints urged the world's Mormons to walk to church, while other churches have urged increased use of mass transit and even bicycles.

The energy crisis is increasingly a topic of sermons, church periodicals and even bumper-sticker campaigns.

Dear Abby:

Desire For Another

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if you have ever come across a problem like this, but here goes: Is it a sin for a Catholic to have a strong desire for a priest?

I must know if I have to confess my feelings to a priest in the confessional before I am able to take communion again.

ATTRACTED

DEAR ATTRACTED: It is not a sin for any person to have a strong desire for a person of the opposite sex.

God made us, man and woman, as we are. To be attracted to another person who cannot, because of marriage or ordination vows, respond, is not a sin. But to act upon it, with deliberate intention of making another violate his (or her) vow of celibacy or marriage is a sin.

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband. No woman could ask for more in a man. But he has one habit which I am convinced is a handicap in his line of work. (He's a real estate salesman for a highly reputable company.)

With every pause in the conversation with clients, he gives out with a very forced laugh, though nothing has been said to justify his "laughter."

I have pointed out to him as gently as possible, that his phony laugh makes him appear insincere, and I've even told him that I have observed the facial expression on the people he's with, and they register surprise, wariness and even contempt, but it doesn't seem to faze him.

Gasoline Prices Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) has raised gasoline diesel fuel and heating oil prices again under Cost of Living Council regulations which permit once monthly price adjustments.

Sohio announced Wednesday the price of gasoline has been boosted one cent a gallon at company-operated stations and that the fuel oil price was increased two cents a gallon. The Cost of Living Council regulations permit a pass-through of increased costs of crude oil.

The new pump prices are 46.4 cents a gallon for regular and unleaded gasoline and 50.4 cents for premium. Wholesale prices of all three grades to dealers also were increased one cent per gallon.

Sohio now has boosted gasoline prices 8.5 cents a gallon since last September.

Prior to September, the company had not raised gasoline prices for three years.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

The most popular children's books in Ohio have been tabulated by a doctor in elementary education from Kent State University. The study included children from grades three to eight who borrowed books from their local public libraries. The children were given ballots to fill out voluntarily. Interestingly enough, there were 2½ times as many responses from girls as boys among the 22,000 participants.

Books of humor, mystery, adventure science fiction, fantasy and animal stories are among the most widely read. Poetry and biography were found to be the least popular. We can only guess as to the reasons for this. Perhaps adult's tastes are reflected in the children's choices. Poetry is meant to be read aloud for the most enjoyment. And, modern living doesn't allow much quiet time for listening to poetry. Other than Rod McJuen, how many modern poets are really well known? For many adults, Mother Goose rhymes recited for admiring grandparents are still the most familiar verses of all.

This study was conducted in 1971 and ¾ of the preferred books were published since 1960. Some of the classics are still with us. These include "Heidi", 1880, and "Alice in Wonderland", 1865.

Beverly Cleary, author of "Henry Huggins" and "Rabbits" and other hilarious family adventure stories is the most popular author. Mystery author Alfred Hitchcock is another favorite. And for humor, Dr. Seuss and Charles Schulz's names appear over and over again.

Although books depicting present day life are widely read, "Little Women" and Laura Ingalls Wilder's stories of early days in our country are in the top ten.

Marguerite Henry's books of horses: "Misty", "King of the Wind" and "Brighty of Grand Canyon" reflect the horse's enduring popularity. But "Mr. Popper's Penguins", "Lassie" and "Mouse and the Motorcycle" show a variety of animal interests. Not all are typically lovable, cuddly animals either. "Charlotte's Web" features a most maligned creature, the homely spider.

Have you guessed the book receiving the greatest number of votes? With more than 2½ times as many votes as its nearest competitor, the winner was "Charlotte's Web." Rounding out the top three are "A Wrinkle in Time" and "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory."

Try the Sneek - A - Peek Room for these and many others on the 262 preferred books' list. They are often available in paper as well as hard back editions.

Chessie Shows Profit Boost For Past Year

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The energy shortage cloud may contain a silver lining for Chessie System Inc. Increased demand for coal to replace oil and gas should increase loadings on Chessie railroads, said an annual report which boasted record 1973 earnings.

Chessie, which claims to transport more bituminous coal than any rail system in the U.S., reported earnings Wednesday of $67 million, up 26 per cent from the 1972 level of $53 million.

Per share earnings rose from $6.08 to $7.71 during the period.

The report noted the National Coal Association has estimated the coal industry could boost production 50 to 70 million tons, 8.5 to 12 per cent, this year.

Chessie, which carried 14 per cent of the national coal output last year, could gain 10 per cent in steam coal loadings, the report said.

Working in favor of all railroads, it was pointed out, is the fact that trains, according to the National Science Foundation, use only one fourth as much fuel and produce only one fourth as much air pollution to carry the same load as trucks.

In the report, Chessie chairman Hays T. Watkins said the new parent company "started auspiciously" with the record results.

Chessie System was started in June 1973 as parent company of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co., the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and other subsidiaries.

The 1973 earnings were greater than any ever reported by C&O and its subsidiaries.

Metzenbaum Cuts Ties With Firm

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Howard M. Metzenbaum, who will take a seat in the U. S. Senate later this month, said today that he has severed his relationship with the Cleveland law firm he founded 33 years ago.

He told members, associates and employees that he was leaving the firm, of which he was senior partner, "in furtherance of my avowed purpose to serve my state and nation faithfully and without reservation."

Gov. John J. Gilligan appointed Metzenbaum to the Senate last month to succeed William Saxbe, who was named U. S. attorney general. Metzenbaum announced previously that he would seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in the May primary this year.

"A DELICIOUS DIVISION OF VAN-ORR FOODS"

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Desire For Another

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if you have ever come across a problem like this, but here goes: Is it a sin for a Catholic to have a strong desire for a priest?

I must know if I have to confess my feelings to a priest in the confessional before I am able to take communion again.

ATTRACTED

DEAR ATTRACTED: It is not a sin for any person to have a strong desire for a person of the opposite sex.

God made us, man and woman, as we are. To be attracted to another person who cannot, because of marriage or ordination vows, respond, is not a sin. But to act upon it, with deliberate intention of making another violate his (or her) vow of celibacy or marriage is a sin.

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband. No woman could ask for more in a man. But he has one habit which I am convinced is a handicap in his line of work. (He's a real estate salesman for a highly reputable company.)

With every pause in the conversation with clients, he gives out with a very forced laugh, though nothing has been said to justify his "laughter."

I have pointed out to him as gently as possible, that his phony laugh makes him appear insincere, and I've even told him that I have observed the facial expression on the people he's with, and they register surprise, wariness and even contempt, but it doesn't seem to faze him.

Gasoline Prices Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) has raised gasoline diesel fuel and heating oil prices again under Cost of Living Council regulations which permit once monthly price adjustments.

Sohio announced Wednesday the price of gasoline has been boosted one cent a gallon at company-operated stations and that the fuel oil price was increased two cents a gallon. The Cost of Living Council regulations permit a pass-through of increased costs of crude oil.

The new pump prices are 46.4 cents a gallon for regular and unleaded gasoline and 50.4 cents for premium. Wholesale prices of all three grades to dealers also were increased one cent per gallon.

Sohio now has boosted gasoline prices 8.5 cents a gallon since last September.

Prior to September, the company had not raised gasoline prices for three years.

Abby, I don't want the man I love to come over like an insincere phony, because he's not, but if I didn't know him personally, I wouldn't buy a thing from him.

Nervous habit or not, perhaps if you print this, it might help.

CONCERNED IN CALIF.

DEAR CONCERNED: Your mentioning the possibility that your husband's forced laugh could be a "nervous habit" shows you to be on target. Habits are acquired, and can be broken with proper motivation. When your husband feels it's a handicap, he'll do something about it. Don't nag him. You've made your point, and it's a good one.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old woman (closer to 30 than I care to think about) with a problem I've had for years. I have an overbite which has always made me self-conscious.

After talking to my dentist I now must make a choice. Either I must have my two front teeth removed and a bridge installed, or I'll have to wear braces for two years to correct this overbite. What should I do?

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: I'd go with the braces. Pulling teeth is an irreversible decision. If you choose the braces, and decide on the bridge later, you can always do it, but once you have an extraction, that's final!

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

The most popular children's books in Ohio have been tabulated by a doctor in elementary education from Kent State University. The study included children from grades three to eight who borrowed books from their local public libraries. The children were given ballots to fill out voluntarily. Interestingly enough, there were 2½ times as many responses from girls as boys among the 22,000 participants.

Books of humor, mystery, adventure science fiction, fantasy and animal stories are among the most widely read. Poetry and biography were found to be the least popular. We can only guess as to the reasons for this. Perhaps adult's tastes are reflected in the children's choices. Poetry is meant to be read aloud for the most enjoyment. And, modern living doesn't allow much quiet time for listening to poetry. Other than Rod McJuen, how many modern poets are really well known? For many adults, Mother Goose rhymes recited for admiring grandparents are still the most familiar verses of all.

This study was conducted in 1971 and ¾ of the preferred books were published since 1960. Some of the classics are still with us. These include "Heidi", 1880, and "Alice in Wonderland," 1865.

Beverly Cleary, author of "Henry Huggins" and "Rabbits" and other hilarious family adventure stories is the most popular author. Mystery author Alfred Hitchcock is another favorite. And for humor, Dr. Seuss and Charles Schulz's names appear over and over again.

Although books depicting present day life are widely read, "Little Women" and Laura Ingalls Wilder's stories of early days in our country are in the top ten.

Marguerite Henry's books of horses: "Misty", "King of the Wind" and "Brighty of Grand Canyon" reflect the horse's enduring popularity. News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Thursday January 3, 1974

NEW YEAR'S EVE—BPO Elks and their ladies were greeted by William A. Bennett, leading knight and Mrs. Bennett, on the left, and James L. Henderson, exalted ruler and Mrs. Henderson as they entered the club for a New Year's Eve Dance. The 11 p.m. toast was given by Mr. Henderson who announced that the Circleville lodge will host the annual South Central Ohio District Ritualistic contest to be held Jan. 19th and 20th. Lodges from 14 cities will participate in the two day affair.

Registered Nurses Assn. Has Program On Seniors

Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. learned of activities of senior citizens in Circleville during its recent Christmas party in the guild room at Berger Hospital. Mrs. Twyla Lorentz was the speaker and hostesses for the evening were Norma Gulick, Elaine Bowman and Ruth Hukill.

Marilyn Reichelderfer presided over the meeting. Mrs. Gladys Robinson, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Lorentz who told of operations of the Pickaway Senior Center.

Mrs. Lorentz explained how the center originated. She said that older people began meeting in the different churches and were known as the Social Group. Members started working with others doing things needed for the needy.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Lorentz the center was begun with a total enrollment of 60 people. At the present time there are 360 names on the membership list with only about 50 who are inactive. The center provides its members with three programs, service, education and recreation.

Vera Saunders heads the services department where she makes reservations to take people to doctor's offices and other places if they do not have transportation. There is a telephone committee whose members call people each day to inquire as to the circumstances of people and just talk with them.

Center staff assists with health check-ups such as, tests for diabetes, glaucoma and blood pressure, among others.

Members visit Pickaway Manor and play games with the residents and the local American Legion Post where games are played with veterans living in homes in the area.

The center is now interested in serving hot meals to people of the community who are unable to cook or leave their homes each day. The project named Franciscan Meals was originated in Springfield and is the 10th in this county. The needs of clients will determine who will receive them. Recipients must sign up for at least a week for the service but may be able to obtain the meals at a reasonable price for as long as needed. Mrs. Ray Carroll will be coordinator and volunteers are being sought to help in deliveries and other service. Mary Duvall is dietitian for the meal planning.

Mrs. Lorentz said that in the education department many kinds of handicrafts are taught. Speakers address members on such subjects as health, nutrition, travel and insurance. In the recreation department members meet once a month for a card party and each month there is an all-day meeting in the Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church. Music and speakers are provided and birthdays celebrated. There is a number of members belonging to a bowling program and a kitchen band has been organized.

The nurses brought gifts to the party for children in foster homes as has been the custom for many years.

Ladybug Bills Are Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio already has a state song, a state flower, a state bird, and even a state mineral—and there are at least two lawmakers who think it should have a state insect.

Resolutions to make the ladybug the official insect were introduced into the General Assembly Wednesday, sponsored by Sen. Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, and House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Bowling Green.

The state song, incidentally, is about a river—the Ohio—which doesn't flow through the state. The flower is the red carnation, the bird a cardinal and the mineral—Ohio flint.

Ham and Swiss cheese sandwiches taste particularly good when they are French-toasted. To do so, dip the sandwiches in a combination of milk and egg and fry in butter or margarine until golden-brown on both sides.

Ladybug Bills Are Introduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio already has a state song, a state flower, a state bird, and even a state mineral—and there are at least two lawmakers who think it should have a state insect.

Resolutions to make the ladybug the official insect were introduced into the General Assembly Wednesday, sponsored by Sen. Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, and House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Bowling Green.

The state song, incidentally, is about a river—the Ohio— which doesn't flow through the state. The flower is the red carnation, the bird a cardinal and the mineral—Ohio flint.

Ham and Swiss cheese sandwiches taste particularly good when they are French-toasted. To do so, dip the sandwiches in a combination of milk and egg and fry in butter or margarine until golden-brown on both sides.

Armstrong Co-Sponsors Law To Implement Farm Land Taxation

Senator Harry L. Armstrong announced today that he has co-sponsored legislation to implement recent Constitutional changes pertaining to the taxation of Ohio farm land.

Armstrong said this bill is designed to provide for separate valuation of agricultural property and at the same time create safeguards against use of farm land tax advantages by real estate speculators. Armstrong commented, "These are both important issues which must be handled extremely carefully by the legislature."

The bill defines agricultural land as a "parcel, tract or lot of land of five (5) acres or more that was exclusively devoted during the entire preceding tax year to bona fide agricultural use." This includes general crop farming, dairying, animal and poultry husbandry, market and vegetable gardening, floriculture, nurseries, fruit and nut orchards, vineyards and forestry.

Under the new law such land would be valued tax purposes on the basis of what it would sell for on the open market for use as farm land.

In the event farm land is sold or otherwise transferred for use other than agricultural, the proposed new law imposes an excise tax equal to the amount of tax savings accrued on the land during the six taxable years immediately preceding the year of change of use.

Armstrong said, "The affect of these provisions would be to tax farm land on the basis of its value as a farm and not on the basis of its value if converted in the future to a higher residential, commercial or industrial use. However, if the owner does convert the land from agricultural use, he would have to pay the excise tax."

If passed, the new law would operate under regulations established by the Ohio Tax Commissioner and these regulations would be administered by the county auditors.

Agricultural land owners would originally be required to apply to the county auditor for agricultural use valuation. An annual renewal of the application also would be required, and property owners would have to notify the auditor of impending change in use of the property.

Those agricultural land owners taking advantage of the new tax procedure would see the tax liability computed on both current market value and on agricultural value on their real estate tax bills. This will provide a continued record of tax savings.

In reviewing the bill's provisions, Armstrong said, the General Assembly must be "very alert to the absolute necessity of avoiding a solution to the farm tax problem that is unnecessarily punitive to residential, commercial and industrial taxpayers."

Last November, Ohio voters, by a margin of more than two-to-one, approved the Constitutional Amendment to permit taxation of agricultural land on current farm use, rather than on the basis of its value if sold for other than agricultural use.

Slate Protest Over Fuel Prices

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Calling the current fuel crisis a "conspiracy," a group of United Auto Workers union leaders are urging that a march on Washington be organized to protest rising fuel prices and possible fuel rationing.

The Community Action Program Council, representing 55,000 UAW members in this area, decided Wednesday night to petition the international union in Detroit to set up a legislative conference in Washington and organize a march.

Council President John Yates told the regular CAP meeting the fuel crisis is "a conspiracy by the oil companies and the Nixon Administration to increase the price of gasoline and oil products for the consumers."

Brown Urges Bill To Outlaw Dirty Tricks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has proposed legislation to prohibit unethical or misleading campaign tactics in Ohio.

Brown submitted the bill to Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, chairman of the Ohio Senate Elections Committee. The legislation would outlaw the use of false and malicious tactics in political campaigns.

While Brown says Watergate has brought the problem of political "dirty tricks" to the public's attention, he notes laws have been on the books to combat such sabotage. "It's about time we actually did something to endorse these laws," he said.

Aronoff's committee is expected to hear the bill sometime this legislative session. Other campaign practices legislation also is pending in the General Assembly.

The secretary of state's bill would expand the authority of the proposed Ohio Elections Commission to allow it to investigate complaints of improper campaign activities, hold hearings and issue "cease and desist" orders against candidates who use the prohibited tactics.

If a candidate fails to follow the commission's order, Brown said the elections body could then take him to court. A candidate who felt he had been wrongly accused of bad campaign practices could seek legal redress, said Brown.

The secretary of state has his own idea of who should be on the Elections Commission.

Brown noted Gov. John Gilligan already has proposed the commission be appointed by the governor. But Brown wants the General Assembly to choose two members from each chamber with a member of each party appointed to sit on the elections body. The Secretary of State would be the fifth member of the group under Brown's plan.

The practices and acts specifically forbidden in Brown's bill are:

—Making false charges that an opposing candidate has a criminal record, has been indicted, is under investigation, has a "loathsome" disease, has a record of insanity or has been dishonorably discharged from the armed forces.

—Altering a photograph or published material or distorting in any way the true position or record of an opponent.

—Making false claims about one's own qualifications or background.

—Making last minute charges of wrongdoing at a point too late for the opponent to respond.

—Publishing phony endorsements or condemnations by fake organizations or in the name of someone who did not make the endorsement or criticism. —Sending employees or volunteers to falsely pose as supporters of another candidate to create adverse publicity for him.

Brown said his bill would require the commission to promptly schedule a hearing whenever a complaint is filed and announce the findings promptly.

Brown said his bill would require the commission to promptly schedule a hearing whenever a complaint is filed and announce the findings promptly.

Secretary Brown admitted the commission might have trouble dealing with candidates who violate the law at the last minute and then go on to win the election.

He said, however, if the evidence is strong enough, the opposing candidate can go to the courts and possibly have the election set aside.

In addition, Brown said he has faith the "bad publicity engendered by a complaint filed with the commission will keep candidates in line."

Pat Nixon Foulup Proves Worrisome

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Pat Nixon is disturbed by a White House foul-up that resulted in the retraction of an announcement she was being appointed to the National Voluntary Advisory Council, sources say.

She was described Wednesday as worried about the effect the mixup might have on the work of the council. The council was established to help coordinate the government's volunteer programs.

The White House press announced on Sunday that the President had appointed his wife as a member and temporary chairman of the 25-member council. On Tuesday, the press office said the announcement was made before all legal and other checks were made.

SYRIANS ABSENT — Table for Syrian delegates at the Middle East Peace Conference at the Palais des Nations in Geneva, Switzerland, is empty when the Syrians did

Israeli Leader Raps Demands

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Ask Menahem Begin what he thinks of foreign guarantees for Israel's security, and he'll remind you of Czechoslovakia in 1938.

Ask him if Israel should return Arab lands in exchange for peace. He recalls 1956, the last time Israel returned territory to the Arabs.

The dapper, 60-year-old former terrorist, whose right-wing Likud bloc took six or more seats in the Israeli parliament from Premier Golda Meir's Laborites in the elections this week, believes that the Arabs are still determined to destroy the Jewish state. He and his supporters oppose the return of any of the territory occupied in the 1967 war.

Begin always refers to Israel by the Biblical name Eretz Israel, the Land of Israel. In the first Arab-Israeli war in 1948, it was partitioned as a result of "Arab aggression and invasion by foreign troops," he said.

"In 1967 we used our right of self-defense, having been surrounded by our enemies and threatened with extinction. We liberated Judea and Samaria (the Biblical names for the territory on the west bank of the Jordan River taken from Jordan).

"These are integral parts of Eretz Israel. Eretz Israel is our land, the land of our forefathers. We have an historic and inalienable right. We must not give up parts of our land."

He favors Israel's talking peace with the Arabs in Geneva. But he says that, instead of offering territorial concessions, Israel should follow the example of Europe and the Far East after World War II:

"Until now there is no peace treaty in Europe, or between Russia and Japan. They built the edifice of peace through stages: firstly, peaceful relations, which means no killing; secondly, free movement of people and products; thirdly, diplomatic recognition and exchange of ambassadors; fourthly, a formal peace treaty."

Begin argues that withdrawal to the frontiers Israel had before the 1967 war not only would contradict "historic right, it would put every city and town in Israel in the range of Arab artillery and missiles."

Begin quotes a statement by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that peace depends on Israeli withdrawal, but after withdrawal Israel would face a "tremendous security problem."

Begin says Kissinger's answer is international guarantees. But Begin recalls the fate of Czechoslovakia after it gave Hitler the Sudetenland.

He also recalls a promise by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that, if Israel relinquished the Gaza Strip after capturing it in the 1956 war, the Egyptian army would never reoccupy it.

"Twenty-four hours after our withdrawal, they returned," he said. When Israel reminded Dulles of his pledge, Begin says that the American replied: "Yes, we promised you ... but they returned. What can we do? Are you going to start a new war?"

"That was the end of that guarantee."

Uncle Held In Canada

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Councilman Henry Kiel, of suburban Maple Heights, is asking U.S. Rep. James Stanton to help him rescue his Uncle Stefan Panek from Canada.

Kiel says his 71-year-old uncle came to this country from Poland two months ago for a visit.

Last Friday, members of the family took Uncle Stefan to Niagara Falls. Kiel says they took a ride to the Canadian side of the Falls, intending to stay only a few hours.

But when they tried to come back they were told that Panek couldn't re-enter the United States because his visa was good for only one entry, and that entry had been used up when he arrived from Poland.

Kiel says Panek is scheduled to return to Poland Jan. 21. If he can't get him out of Canada, he says, "we'll just have to take his clothes to him and send him back to Poland."

Meanwhile, Panek is living in a hotel in Niagara Falls, Ont.

Courts May Get Bolton Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats planned to file a formal protest today as a result of the appointment of Charles P. Bolton of Mentor to an Ohio Senate vacancy.

Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, said he will file the protest which could clear the way for a court challenge of the appointment.

He and other Democrats, including Rep. James Mueller, D-74 Chesterland, claim Bolton is ineligible because he does not meet the one-year residency requirement for legislative districts.

Mueller has announced as a Democratic candidate in the 31st Senate District vacated by the recent resignation, for reasons of health, of Sen. Robert E. Stockdale of Kent.

Bolton was officially "elected" by Senate Republicans Wednesday as state lawmakers returned to convene their 1974 session. He was sworn in by GOP Lt. Gov. John W. Brown.

The 31-year-old Bolton, a Harvard graduate and member of a politically prominent northeast Ohio family, worked as a stockbroker and lived in New York City until last July, he said. "But I never voted anywhere except in Ohio," he told newsmen. Republicans claim his eligibility as a voter, which "never has been questioned", also makes him eligible as a senator from that district.

Bolton's father, Oliver P. Bolton, and his grandmother, Frances P. Bolton, both served in Congress. At one time, they were the only mother and son members in the U.S. House. The new senator also had a great grandfather who once served in the Senate, as well as other ancestors on both sides of his family.

He came to Columbus Wednesday with a legal "opinion" from the Cleveland law firm of Thompson, Hine, and Flory which held that his eligibility is valid. He also brought along copies of his Mentor voting record for presentation to Senate leaders.

At an impromptu news conference outside the Senate chamber, the new bachelor senator told reporters "I think the issue most voters should be considering today in this era of Watergate is faithful representation, and not petty partisanship."

Mueller, a second term member of the House, said a decision on a lawsuit has not been made. But he made it clear he will make Bolton's residence a campaign issue in 1974. Bolton already has taken out petitions to seek nomination for a full, four-year term.

The Democratic lawmaker said he conceded the question of residency is "difficult." He said "they have a 400-acre estate with nine houses on it. Who's to say where he actually lives. They (the Republicans) are trying to throw a ringer in on us."

SYRIANS ABSENT — Table for Syrian delegates at the Middle East Peace Conference at the Palais des Nations in Geneva, Switzerland, is empty when the Syrians did

Israeli Leader Raps Demands

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Ask Menahem Begin what he thinks of foreign guarantees for Israel's security, and he'll remind you of Czechoslovakia in 1938.

Ask him if Israel should return Arab lands in exchange for peace. He recalls 1956, the last time Israel returned territory to the Arabs.

The dapper, 60-year-old former terrorist, whose right-wing Likud bloc took six or more seats in the Israeli parliament from Premier Golda Meir's Laborites in the elections this week, believes that the Arabs are still determined to destroy the Jewish state. He and his supporters oppose the return of any of the territory occupied in the 1967 war.

Begin always refers to Israel by the Biblical name Eretz Israel, the Land of Israel. In the first Arab-Israeli war in 1948, it was partitioned as a result of "Arab aggression and invasion by foreign troops," he said.

"In 1967 we used our right of self-defense, having been surrounded by our enemies and threatened with extinction. We liberated Judea and Samaria (the Biblical names for the territory on the west bank of the Jordan River taken from Jordan).

"These are integral parts of Eretz Israel. Eretz Israel is our land, the land of our forefathers. We have an historic and inalienable right. We must not give up parts of our land."

He favors Israel's talking peace with the Arabs in Geneva. But he says that, instead of offering territorial concessions, Israel should follow the example of Europe and the Far East after World War II:

"Until now there is no peace treaty in Europe, or between Russia and Japan. They built the edifice of peace through stages: firstly, peaceful relations, which means no killing; secondly, free movement of people and products; thirdly, diplomatic recognition and exchange of ambassadors; fourthly, a formal peace treaty."

Notre Dame Grid Champions

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame are the national champions of college football.

By defeating regular-season leader Alabama 24-23 in the Sugar Bowl Monday night, Notre Dame vaulted from third place to first in the final Associated Press rankings announced today and thereby captured its first national championship since 1966.

The Irish won comfortably over Ohio State, which jumped from fourth to second by trouncing Southern California 42-21 in the Rose Bowl, and Oklahoma, which was ineligible for a bowl trip and slipped from second to third. Oklahoma finished second the last two seasons.

Notre Dame received 33 first-place votes and 1,128 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Ohio State earned 11 first-place ballots and 1,002 points while Oklahoma got the other 16 first-place votes and 965 points. "Whew, am I glad to hear that news," Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian told The AP when the final rankings were relayed to him Wednesday night. "I was sweating like hell. I was worried because of the press that came out of the West Coast after the Rose Bowl. Woody (Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes) was making all kinds of statements."

Alabama finished fourth with 834 points. Penn State, one of only three unbeaten and untied teams in the country, was fifth after a 16-9 Orange Bowl triumph over Louisiana State. The Nittany Lions pulled 709 points in reversing positions with No. 6 Michigan, which received 702 points.

The Wolverines tied Ohio State 10-10 and shared the Big Ten title with the Buckeyes, but Ohio State was chosen as the league's Rose Bowl representative by a vote of the 10 athletic directors.

Rounding out the final Top Ten are

No. 7 Nebraska, a 19-3 victor over Texas in the Cotton Bowl, and No. 8 Southern Cal, the 1972 champion; while Houston, which walloped Tulane 47-7 in the Astro-Blubonnet Bowl, finished in a tie for ninth place with Arizona State, a 28-7 winner over Pittsburgh in the Fiesta Bowl.

The Second Ten consists of Texas Tech, UCLA, Louisiana State, Texas, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Missouri, Kansas and Tennessee, with Maryland and Tulane tied for 20th.

Since 1966, Notre Dame's only serious run at a national title came in 1970 when the Irish ended Texas' 30-game winning streak in the Cotton Bowl and finished second to Nebraska in the ratings.

This marks Notre Dame's sixth national championship since the AP rankings began in 1936, more than any other school. The other titles came in 1943, 1946, 1947, 1949 and 1966.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records

Woody Set For Bowl Next Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes was hardly back in Ohio Wednesday night before he was talking about another trip to the Rose Bowl.

"Our players want to go back. They were treated so well this time," said the Ohio State coach upon the team's arrival at Port Columbus International Airport.

The Big Ten co-champions walloped Southern California 42-21 in the 1974 Rose Bowl New Year's Day, breaking Hayes' personal two-game losing streak in the classic.

"I told our players when they play that well, they'll have a devil of a time getting rid of me," said Hayes, 60, who just completed his 23rd Ohio State season.

About 5,000 fans mobbed the Buckeye when they left their chartered airliner at the airport.

The fans, chanting "We're No. 1, We're No. 1," swarmed around the plane, breaking through a police cordone.

Ohio Lt. Gov. John Brown presented Hayes with proclamations from the Ohio General Assembly and Columbus Mayor Tom Moody hailing the Buckeyes as the nation's No. 1 college football team.

N.Y. Nets Top Cougars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Julius Erving had to compensate for his frigid shooting, so he turned in a last-minute clutch performance that helped the New York Nets end a three-game losing streak.

Erving made a clutch steal and basket in the closing moments and lifted the Nets to a 99-96 American Basketball Association victory over the Carolina Cougars Wednesday night.

Despite hitting only nine of 23 field goal attempts and missing eight consecutive shots during one second-half stretch, Erving still managed a game-high 23 points.

In other ABA games, Memphis defeated Virginia 110-100 and Denver topped San Antonio 108.

Ecclestone, Toronto Top Red Wings, 4-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Ecclestone was dealt away by Detroit to Toronto earlier this season and there's no greater satisfaction for any athlete than to come back to haunt his ex-employers.

That's what Ecclestone did Wednesday night, scoring his third and fourth goals of the National Hockey League season and spurring Toronto to a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over the Red Wings.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Chicago ripped the New York Islanders 5-1, Minnsota downed Pittsburgh 8-4, St. Louis stunned Montreal 8-4 and California trimmed Los Angeles 5-2.

Circleville Cagers Invade Mustang Country Saturday

Circleville moves into Mustang country Saturday night to engage the oncoming Westfall cagers in a county rivalry clash.

It will be the second encounter of the year between the two teams. The Tigers topped the Mustangs, 81-55, in their season opener at the Mill St. gym.

But the Mustangs of coach Mike Eckle have begun to find themselves with two solid ball games at the Logan Elm Holiday Tournament. They dropped a heartbreaking decision to Logan Elm in the opening round but bounced back with a big win over Amanda-Clearcreek in the consolation contest. They are now sporting a 2-5 mark on the season.

Coach Eckle will probably go with Brad Beatty and Dave Shannon at the guards, Jay Clark at center with Doug Williams and Joe Angler working up front. Jim Picklesimer has been the sixth man for the Mustangs.

Circleville will be looking to get back on the winning track after dropping a decision to Hillsboro in the last outing.

The Tigers are now 6-2 for the season and hold a 4-2 mark in South Central Ohio League play.

Defense is a strong point with the Red and Black cagers who have limited the opposition to 53.8 points a game and are the top defensive team in the SCOL.

On offense the Tigers are putting 66 markers on the scorebook with a 44 per cent shooting average from the floor.

Harold Reed is leading the Tigers with a 14.8 game average, Kris Kline in netting 14.2, Robin Martin is hitting for 13.6, Perry Hoskins 11.5. Doug Radabaugh 5.3 and John Ankrom 3.2.

Reed, Kline and Hoskins have been going to the boards and are the top rebounders for the Tigers.

Radabaugh was named defensive Tiger of the week for his effort at Hillsboro but Circleville coaches did not select an offensive player of the week.

Coach John Lawhorn will go with Radabaugh and Martin at the guards, Kline at center and Reed and Hoskins at the forward posts. Ankrom has been the sixth man for the Tigers.

Carolina Coliseum with an 81-65 victory over Texas Tech. Brian Winters scored 26 points and helped power South Carolina to a 10-point lead halfway through the second half.

Danny Knight scored a field goal with one second left, giving Kansas a 72-71 victory over Iowa; Bill Knight fired in 34 points to pace Pittsburgh over Virginia 81-70; Tony Byers scored 26 points, 17 in the first half, to power Wake Forest over Bucknell 83-56;

Georgetown routed Chicago State 100-71 as Merlin Wilson and Billy Lynn tossed in 23 points apiece; Drake stopped Illinois State 99-90 behind Larry Haralson's 22 points and Glenn Price scored 27 points and collected 17 rebounds to trigger St. Bonaventure to a 122-72 decision over Baldwin-Wallace.

Foreman, Chambers Chosen Top NFL Rookies For 1973

NEW YORK (AP) — Each January, National Football League teams sit down to divide the best of college football's graduating senior class. The cream this season went to the Minnesota Vikings, who came up with power runner Chuck Foreman, and the Chicago Bears, who found a fierce defensive end in Wally Chambers.

Foreman was chosen the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Year and Chambers took freshman defensive honors today in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The Vikings, picking No. 12 in the draft, selected Foreman of Miami quite simply because he had the credentials to be a good one. Oh, maybe not quite as good as some others. There were scouts who liked runners like Purdue's Otis Armstrong and Sam Cunningham of Southern California better. Both were chosen ahead of Foreman, Armstrong by Denver and Cunningham by New England.

The same thing happened to Bear scouts who saw two other defensive linemen go — Tampa's John Matuszak to Houston and Dave Butz of Purdue to St. Louis — before they drafted Chambers.

Foreman had rushed for a career record of 1,631 yards at Miami, including a school record 951 in 1971. He also caught 56 passes for 732 yards in three seasons. Standout performances in the North-South Game and the Senior Bowl convinced the Vikings they were right about the young man.

Foreman's 801 yards gained in 182 carries was ninth best among all National Conference rushers. He also caught 37 passes for 362 more yards, injecting new life into Minnesota's offense as the Vikings soared into a Super Bowl date against Miami.

Chambers led the Bears in tackles with 101 and assisted on 31 others. It marked the first time since 1965 when Dick Butkus joined the team that anyone but Butkus had led the team in tackles. The 6-foot-6, 250-pounder also had nine quarterback sacks to his credit.

Foreman had more competition in the offensive balloting than Chambers did on defense in The AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Foreman received 24 of a possible 78 votes. Second place belonged to Philadelphia tight end Charley Young, who attracted 16 votes. Wide receiver Isaac Curtis of Cincinnati was third with 15 votes.

Chambers had 36 votes in the defensive balloting, far outdistancing a pair of defensive backs, Dick Jauron of Detroit and Eddie MacMillan of Los Angeles, who each had eight.

Notre Dame Grid Champions

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame are the national champions of college football.

By defeating regular-season leader Alabama 24-23 in the Sugar Bowl Monday night, Notre Dame vaulted from third place to first in the final Associated Press rankings announced today and thereby captured its first national championship since 1966.

The Irish won comfortably over Ohio State, which jumped from fourth to second by trouncing Southern California 42-21 in the Rose Bowl, and Oklahoma, which was ineligible for a bowl trip and slipped from second to third. Oklahoma finished second the last two seasons.

Notre Dame received 33 first-place votes and 1,128 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Ohio State earned 11 first-place ballots and 1,002 points while Oklahoma got the other 16 first-place votes and 965 points.

"Whew, am I glad to hear that news," Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian told The AP when the final rankings were relayed to him Wednesday night. "I was sweating like hell. I was worried because of the press that came out of the West Coast after the Rose Bowl. Woody (Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes) was making all kinds of statements."

Alabama finished fourth with 834 points. Penn State, one of only three unbeaten and untied teams in the country, was fifth after a 16-9 Orange Bowl triumph over Louisiana State. The Nittany Lions pulled 709 points in reversing positions with No. 6 Michigan, which received 702 points.

The Wolverines tied Ohio State 10-10 and shared the Big Ten title with the Buckeyes, but Ohio State was chosen as the league's Rose Bowl representative by a vote of the 10 athletic directors.

Rounding out the final Top Ten are

No. 7 Nebraska, a 19-3 victor over Texas in the Cotton Bowl, and No. 8 Southern Cal, the 1972 champion; while Houston, which walloped Tulane 47-7 in the Astro-Blunnet Bowl, finished in a tie for ninth place with Arizona State, a 28-7 winner over Pittsburgh in the Fiesta Bowl.

The Second Ten consists of Texas Tech, UCLA, Louisiana State, Texas, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Missouri, Kansas and Tennessee, with Maryland and Tulane tied for 20th.

Since 1966, Notre Dame's only serious run at a national title came in 1970 when the Irish ended Texas' 30-game winning streak in the Cotton Bowl and finished second to Nebraska in the ratings.

This marks Notre Dame's sixth national championship since the AP rankings began in 1936, more than any other school. The other titles came in 1943, 1946, 1947, 1949 and 1966.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records

Woody Set For Bowl Next Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes was hardly back in Ohio Wednesday night before he was talking about another trip to the Rose Bowl.

"Our players want to go back. They were treated so well this time," said the Ohio State coach upon the team's arrival at Port Columbus International Airport.

The Big Ten co-champions walloped Southern California 42-21 in the 1974 Rose Bowl New Year's Day, breaking Hayes' personal two-game losing streak in the classic.

"I told our players when they play that well, they'll have a devil of a time getting rid of me," said Hayes, 60, who just completed his 23rd Ohio State season.

About 5,000 fans mobbed the Buckeye when they left their chartered airliner at the airport.

The fans, chanting "We're No. 1, We're No. 1," swarmed around the plane, breaking through a police cordon.

Ohio Lt. Gov. John Brown presented Hayes with proclamations from the Ohio General Assembly and Columbus Mayor Tom Moody hailing the Buckeyes as the nation's No. 1 college football team.

N.Y. Nets Top Cougars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Julius Erving had to compensate for his frigid shooting, so he turned in a last-minute clutch performance that helped the New York Nets end a three-game losing streak.

Erving made a clutch steal and basket in the closing moments and lifted the Nets to a 99-96 American Basketball Association victory over the Carolina Cougars Wednesday night.

Despite hitting only nine of 23 field goal attempts and missing eight consecutive shots during one second-half stretch, Erving still managed a game-high 23 points.

In other ABA games, Memphis defeated Virginia 110-100 and Denver topped San Antonio 108.

Ecclestone, Toronto Top Red Wings, 4-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Ecclestone was dealt away by Detroit to Toronto earlier this season and there's no greater satisfaction for any athlete than to come back to haunt his ex-employers.

That's what Ecclestone did Wednesday night, scoring his third and fourth goals of the National Hockey League season and spurring Toronto to a come-from-behind 4-3 victory over the Red Wings.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Chicago ripped the New York Islanders 5-1, Minnesota downed Pittsburgh 8-4, St. Louis stunned Montreal 8-4 and California trimmed Los Angeles 5-2.

McMillen Sets Cage Mark

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Maryland's Rhodes Scholar is a pretty smart basketball player, too.

Tom McMillen knows exactly how to score points — and Wednesday night scored enough of them to break a school record in a 96-60 rout of Richmond.

The erudite McMillen, cited as a Rhodes Scholar just a couple of weeks ago, collected 17 points to move ahead of Gene Shue on the all-time Maryland scoring list.

McMillen's point total of 1,405 surpassed the old Maryland record of 1,397 by Shue, now a coach with the professional Philadelphia 76ers.

"My appreciation of the record would have been greater had my father been here," said McMillen, whose father died last week.

McMillen has been playing indefatigably for the third-ranked Terrapins despite some personal distractions the past few weeks. The Rhodes Scholarship and his father's death have kept him busy — and tired.

"My thoughts have been muddled recently," said the 6-foot-11 McMillen. "I really hadn't given the scoring record much thought. I'll remember this game only by the fact that my father didn't come to it."

In other college basketball action, sixth-ranked Marquette blasted Cincinnati Xavier 73-53 and No. 20 Austin Peay was upset 88-86 by Missouri in an opening round game of the Senior Bowl tournament in Mobile, Ala. Host South Alabama crushed Southern Mississippi 96-75 in another first-round game.

McMillen not only broke Shue's scoring record, he enhanced his rebounding mark with 12. The classy forward ranks fifth in that department.

John Lucas was Maryland's high scorer Wednesday night with 25 points. He connected on 9 of his first 14 shots while the powerful Terrapins ran up a 46-22 halftime lead. Lucas added seven assists to his night's work.

The victory was Maryland's seventh straight since a one-point, opening-night loss to top-ranked UCLA. Richmond, led by Aron Stewart's 23 points, lost its sixth game in nine starts.

Maurice Lucas powered Marquette on an 11-2 tear at the beginning and helped the undefeated Warriors win their 10th game of the year with ease.

Lucas, who scored 19 points overall, helped Marquette take a 37-24 lead at the half. Xavier scored merely seven field goals before intermission. Mike Plunkett had 20 points for the Musketeers, who lost their sixth straight game after winning the first three of the season.

Al Eberhard's basket from underneath with six seconds left provided Missouri with a dramatic victory over Austin Peay.

Austin Peay's James "Fly" Williams was the game's leading scorer with 29 points. He also led all players with 11 rebounds.

In the second game of the Senior Bowl's opening night, South Alabama accelerated to a nine-point lead in the first six minutes behind Dave Davis and breezed past Southern Mississippi. Davis led South Alabama's scoring with 21 points while Ronnie Malone had 24 for Southern Mississippi.

Owen Wells scored 36 points to lead the University of Detroit to a 95-83 victory over Canisius and Larry Fogle, the nation's leading scorer. Fogle had 30 points, about eight beneath his average.

The South Carolina Gamecocks won their 26th straight victory in their Carolina Coliseum with an 81-65 victory over Texas Tech. Brian Winters scored 26 points and helped power South Carolina to a 10-point lead halfway through the second half.

Danny Knight scored a field goal with one second left, giving Kansas a 72-71 victory over Iowa; Bill Knight fired in 34 points to pace Pittsburgh over Virginia 81-70; Tony Byers scored 26 points, 17 in the first half, to power Wake Forest over Bucknell 83-56;

Georgetown routed Chicago State 100-71 as Merlin Wilson and Billy Lynn tossed in 23 points apiece; Drake stopped Illinois State 99-90 behind Larry Haralson's 22 points and Glenn Price scored 27 points and collected 17 rebounds to trigger St. Bonaventure to a 122-72 decision over Baldwin-Wallace.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A shifting of certain situations indicated; perhaps current trends altering. You should be in on the movements, plans. Express your opinions—but discreetly.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your judgment a bit off now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Travel favored. In fact, any trip on which you embark on Friday could involve you in a most unusual, but profitable, experience.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Persons in your business or job area may seem to be rather demanding, but try to realize that aggressiveness is often a sign of inner insecurity and respond accordingly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't plan any hectic activities. Day will be more satisfactory if you can get off by yourself and do some constructive thinking.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Watch the budget now. Reject any ideas for entertainment which you can't really afford. Tendency is to be reckless.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't hesitate to engage in a novel enterprise if it is worthwhile, regardless of your present situation. You may find a new, if different, road to success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): You may have to set aside certain personal desires in order to show your abilities in the best light, but the effort you make in this regard will pay off handsomely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): In making changes or starting something new, consider all possible outcomes. Weakness in certain areas may have to be shored up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Principles and values must be well considered now. If you avoid extremes, you can have a satisfactory day. Especially favored: executives, teachers, students, researchers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Someone in authority will now take action to aid your cause—broadening your horizons considerably. You have good reason for optimism.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day of mixed influences. Be careful in your approaches. Others may read more into your words and actions than you intend.

YOU BORN TODAY are both artistic and practical; can conduct business matters with unusual competence and shrewdness, while also pursuing a highly creative avocation, such as writing, sketching or architecture. You have tremendous inner forces which help you to overcome obstacles with seeming ease. If you do not choose business as a career, you could do exceptionally well as an educator, scientist, politician or real estate operator. There is no set boundary for the Capricornian. He makes new horizons daily. Birthdate of: Gen. Joseph J. Joffre, French hero, World War I.

Cool Homes

BRENTWOOD, N.Y. (AP) — The current home heating fuel shortage should make the winter a happy one for the family dog, according to Milt Eisner, a professional groomer.

"Dogs usually spend the winter in homes and apartments that have too much heat for canine comfort," says Eisner, who is director of education for St. Aubrey Pet Care Products.

Under normal winter conditions, he notes, "the family dog is taken from his 75 degree — or warmer — home, and walked in temperatures often dipping below the freezing mark. This confuses the dog's biological thermostat as he faces winter temperatures outside and summer temperatures on the inside."

"The result," Eisner adds, "is that the dog's system doesn't know whether to shed his coat for summer or to keep on growing it longer and warmer for the winter. This winter the family pet may seem to have a bit more fur than usual, but the excess fur will present no problem."

When You're Stuck In Snow

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — According to the Clark Equipment Trailer Division, professional truck drivers suggest the following method of getting free when your car gets stuck in snow: "Rock" your car out of snow ruts by easing it forward as far as it will go without spinning wheels, then easing it backward. Repeat until momentum carries you out.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Richard Chamberlain is back on the home screen playing an American for the first time since the "Dr. Kildare" series went off the air.

Chamberlain will be seen in "F. Scott Fitzgerald and The Last of the Belles," playing the role of the writer. Blythe Danner costars as Zelda in the two-hour show on ABC next Monday.

The program traces the return of the Fitzgeralds from France, where he spent the summer "in drinking and general unpleasantness," to their home outside Wilmington, Del.

Woven into their tragic lives is one of Fitzgerald's short stories, "The Last of the Belles." It is a fictional version of how Fitzgerald and Zelda Sayre met.

"I didn't know a lot about Fitzgerald, except what everyone knew," Chamberlain said. "I hadn't read much of his works, except 'The Great Gatsby' and 'Tender Is the Night.' It came up so fast I didn't have much time to get through as much of his writing as I would have liked. I read his biography and some correspondence."

The actor said, "He was a fascinating man. So lucid, so hard to pin down because of all the illusions he seemed to live. I don't think he could ever cope with not being young any more. He and Zelda engaged in frantic acting to create an illusion of youth."

After the cancellation of "Dr. Kildare" in 1966, Chamberlain set out to change his image from a clean-cut American youth to classical actor.

"I wanted to change my image, not only in the public's mind, but in my own," he said. "I lived with 'Kildare' for five years and it becomes a part of you. I had a battle to break away from that and recreate myself in the audience's mind."

Chamberlain, 36, has succeeded admirably, with such productions as "Hamlet," "Richard II" and "Cyrano de Bergerac" and such films as "Petulia," "The Music Lovers," "Lady Caroline Lamb" and the upcoming "Three Musketeers."

A reprise of his stage production of "Hamlet" for the Hallmark Hall of Fame in 1970 was his big re-entry into the American scene after four years spent mainly in England. Last year he was seen as the Duke of Windsor on ABC's "Portrait" series.

This year he hopes to make three films, two of them contemporary, and has plans for two television projects. He is trying to put together a TV production of "Cyrano," which he recently performed on the stage in Los Angeles.

It is believed that tektites found in Australia were probably melted on their way through Earth's atmosphere about 700,000 years ago.

Solons Ponder Watergate Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — An apparent change in White House strategy may raise new problems as President Nixon deals with congressional Republicans anxious to resolve Watergate issues early in an election year.

The President and his advisers apparently have decided against public release of transcripts or summaries of Watergate-related tape recordings, dropping a disclosure plan that had emerged from private meetings with GOP members of the Senate and House.

There has been no response from members of Congress, now scattered for the between-sessions recess that ends Jan. 21. One Republican leader was described as angered by the shift, but reluctant to speak out publicly on the matter before he and other members of Congress have sampled voter attitudes on Watergate and alleged fund-raising scandals.

A GOP aide on Capitol Hill said Republicans who had advocated disclosure of everything relevant and available are likely to return from their recess displeased with the White House.

"How hard they go at the White House on this is going to be determined by what they find out during the recess," he said.

During a series of meetings with members of Congress six weeks ago, the President was quoted as saying he would be making public information on the tapes, and additional data that would cover such matters as the ITT case and campaign contributions from dairy industry interests. An aide has said documents on the latter two cases will be forthcoming.

Nixon also mentioned, and has since issued, an unprecedented accounting of his personal finances, including his income tax returns.

The White House has announced that the planned release of summaries of the Watergate tape recordings is being re-evaluated. Nixon is said to have decided against disclosure of summaries of the seven tape recordings that have been turned over to the Watergate special prosecutor.

In addition, the White House is expected to resist a subpoena from the Senate Watergate committee, which seeks nearly 500 tapes and documents.

A spokesman cited the committee demand, and the fact that a tape released for courtroom use was improperly played by a lawyer at a Washington cocktail party, as reasons for the apparent shift on public disclosure.

In addition, deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren noted that the President has said different people could reach differing conclusions because of ambiguities in the recorded conversations.

Warren also said nothing on the tapes is inconsistent with Nixon's denial of Watergate involvement.

That goes back to the position the President took in refusing to release tapes to the committee last July 23, a week after their existence was disclosed.

It remains unclear what will be made public on other matters, and when. Nixon is said to be planning to consult with Republican congressional leaders on the subject.

Solons Ponder Watergate Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — An apparent change in White House strategy may raise new problems as President Nixon deals with congressional Republicans anxious to resolve Watergate issues early in an election year.

The President and his advisers apparently have decided against public release of transcripts or summaries of Watergate-related tape recordings, dropping a disclosure plan that had emerged from private meetings with GOP members of the Senate and House.

There has been no response from members of Congress, now scattered for the between-sessions recess that ends Jan. 21. One Republican leader was described as angered by the shift, but reluctant to speak out publicly on the matter before he and other members of Congress have sampled voter attitudes on Watergate and alleged fund-raising scandals.

A GOP aide on Capitol Hill said Republicans who had advocated disclosure of everything relevant and available are likely to return from their recess displeased with the White House.

"How hard they go at the White House on this is going to be determined by what they find out during the recess," he said.

During a series of meetings with members of Congress six weeks ago, the President was quoted as saying he would be making public information on the tapes, and additional data that would cover such matters as the ITT case and campaign contributions from dairy industry interests. An aide has said documents on the latter two cases will be forthcoming.

Nixon also mentioned, and has since issued, an unprecedented accounting of his personal finances, including his income tax returns.

The White House has announced that the planned release of summaries of the Watergate tape recordings is being re-evaluated. Nixon is said to have decided against disclosure of summaries of the seven tape recordings that have been turned over to the Watergate special prosecutor.

In addition, the White House is expected to resist a subpoena from the Senate Watergate committee, which seeks nearly 500 tapes and documents.

Warren also said nothing on the tapes is inconsistent with Nixon's denial of Watergate involvement.

That goes back to the position the President took in refusing to release tapes to the committee last July 23, a week after their existence was disclosed.

It remains unclear what will be made public on other matters, and when. Nixon is said to be planning to consult with Republican congressional leaders on the subject.
